To the President.

Mr. Cox's last letter to the President, already published, is dated October 3d. It will be observed, however, that, in his letter of Angust 23d, Mr. Cox intimates strongly his determination to reaign in case the President refused to support him in his views about the McGarrahan claims. To this letter the President made no reply, thus tactily refusing to abandon the position he had taken on the question of issuing the land patient. Willi regard to that part of Mr. Cox's ast letter which seems to imply an interference on the part of somebody with the Indian policy of the Administration, it should be understood that the Fresident had no issue with Mr. Cox on that subject. Nor did he permit any ontaids interference. The sonly thing that could possibly be constraed in this way was the Fresident's indoresment on a letter from Senator Chandler, of Mishigan, addressed to him at Long Branch, and in Mobile some four years ago. He says, in his wrath, some severe things about "the rebels," a good many of whom will have to be hanged before they learn to behave themselves in the august presence of the Great Secretary of the United States Navy. Speaking of the righteous indignation of the renowned navel hero, the Springfield Republicas, one of the ablest of the Radical journals in New England, says.

"Secretary Rozsons was a good deal "acared" by the disturbance at the Republican meeting in Noriolk, Va., which he addressed, the other night. He expresses surprise that the loss of life was not greater than reported, as firearms were freely used, and says he is fully convinced that the spirit of the rebellion has not yetbeen broken, and that the strong arm of the government will yet have to be felt belore the rebels will learn to respect the laws, and not molest those who have always been loyal and choose to entertain opposite political sentiments. This may all be true, but to one who was not there it seems rather a strong conclusion to argue seems rather a strong conclusion to argue from the premise of one riot. They get up just such little rows in New York every little while, and no one thinks anything of them." The Republican torgets that the Norfolk "riot" refused to hear a speech from Robeson. Of course when a Nortolk root perpetrates such an outrage as that, it is nonsense to say that the act does not commit the entire. South to treason and rebellion.

A Radical Estimate of Washington.
"Impudence is a great talent. Few per ple value it high emough. When the devil from the top of a high mountain offered Carner the kingdom of this world he gave a signal example of how far impudence could go. In this case he did not succeed. But it often does what nothing else can do."

Thus solemnly and sententiously doth E. D. M., the only editor of the Cincinnati Gazette who is vain enough to attach a signature to his articles, express his estimasignature to his articles, express his estimation of the power and dignity of impudence. And after this laudatory invocation of the spirit that is to guide his pen he proceeds to give us a sample of her inspiration. Surely nothing but the sublimity of impudence could sustain a man in writing a protest against the honor and respect which all men pay to the civic and Christian virtues of Washinston, nothing but impudence or an attack of George-the-Third

They do some very curious things out in Illinois—not only in that part of Illinois which constitutes the corporate limits of Chicago, but in a number of other places besides. Springfield, for instance. Mrs. J. S. Gadsden, whose husband has Mrs. J. S. Gadeden, whose husband has recently divided their house with her, giving her the outside and keeping the inside himself, is now boarding at the Leland Hotel, in that city. She writes a letter to the Springfield Register, in which she tells how this state of things came about, making quite a nest and pretty little story of it. While quietly seated in her parlor one evening not long since, talking to a young gentleman who had called to see her husband, there was a sudden hang just outside of the house, and a piatol-hall came crashing through the window. This was followed by several others, and Mrs. Gadeden thought it pistoriali came crasining through the window. This was followed by several others, and Mrs. Gadeden thought it about time for her to go up stairs to her room, which she accordingly did, locking herself in and the pistol-balls out. But Mr. Gadeden himself, who had become a raving manuac from mixing his whisky and jealousy, could not be thus kept out. Bursting open the door, and almost bursting bimself with rage at the same time, he rushed into the room, and, throwing his wife upon the floor, continued the evening's entertainment by choking her black and blue and pulling her hair and calling her ugly names. Then, placing a pistol under her nose, he compelled her at the point of that weapon to sign a paper declaring that she had done wrong—very wrong. After which he had her trunk packed, carried her to the depot and shipped her off at once to Chicago. While all this violence and rascality was going on Mrs. Gadenay was proposed to when the contract of the point of the proposed to the contract of the compelled her off at once to Chicago. principal ingredients of most of the medicines now in use), are sware that the medicines now in use), are sware that the medicines often leave the system in an unhealty condition, making it more difficult to relieve it of their effects than of the original disease. Wintersmith's Improved Chill Cure leaves the system in a perfectly healthy condition, with no bad effects in any way to be worn off. Unlike chill remedies generally, it requires no purgative to be taken with it, the medicine itself acting genity and agreeably upon the liver and bowels, effectually removing the cause of the disease, not merely temporarily checkine it. Herein consists its great superiority over all other chill preparations. The cure is a permanent one; the chill will not return periodically, as is the case when broken by quinties and other medicines. Read the two criticates below:

morning until this morning, on the motion of Gov. Bramette op behalf of the bar. This motion, it is undershood, emanated from motives of couriery to Judge Bailard, on account of privace affairs known to demand his Honor's attention yesterday.

The case of the United States vs. Judge J. Hop. Price, which was set for yesterday, was not, on account of this continuance, regularly called. But we are informed that, after the jury was discharged, the matter of the irial of this ones was considered by the Judge, the District Attorney and the counsel for Judge Price, in which interview Judge Bailard informed counsel that he had a lester from Judge Emmons announcing his recurs from Europe, and that at some early day he would be able to be in Louisville and six with Judge Bailard in the Circuit Court. The latter also expressed his desire, on account of the great imperiance and novelty of the questions arising in Judge Frier's case, to have the Circuit Judge to sit with him wakes the case is heard. By consent of counsel for procedulon and defense the case was, therefore, passed for the present, and will not be called again until Judge Bailard corresponds with Judge Emmons, and notifies counsel of the day fixed for the hearing.

We cannot disapprove of this preparation for a full discussion and deliberate disposed of this important case. The importance of the case catmon, indeed, so corresponds with Judge Emmons, and notifies counsel of the Agreed adoption of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth amendments to the United States Constitution, and, if these are really parts of the constitution, and, if these are really parts of the constitution, and, if these are really parts of the constitution, and, if these are really parts of the constitution, and, if these are really parts of the constitution, and, if these are teally parts of the constitution, and, if these are teally parts of the constitution, and, if the case is a pioneer case on these important elections and the state court.

Another Infanticide Another Infanticede, An account was given in this paper of last Monday of the birth of a child to a house on Walani, corner of Sixth street, during the atent of Sunday last, and of many suspicious circumsiances pointing to its having been foully dealt with. It will be remembered that a young negross, Martha Boyd, slept that slight with the servants in the above-named house, and that eermants in the above-named house, and that curing its oourse she save birth to the chitic. The infant could not be found the next morning, for could the grir sive a ministatory account of its disposition, but blood was found over the stairs leading to and in a vault in the part behind the house. The strong presumption existing of her pullt and the, so doubt, conceivances of the girt, have caused her to carefully conceil berself since that date from the search of the of-sicrets, But Policeman Dennis Meagher has been faithfully on her treak since the date of the palavice crime, and seeterday succeded in arresting her in a house on shelphy street, between Main and Market. He, with Officer Cave and forecer Weber, also arrested a colored girt, asheed Anna Robinson, as an accomplice in the murder of the cellid.

Close of the Baby-Farming Case.
The trial of Mrs. Mellie Prentice for the nurder of the infant child of Rachel sankh was concuded yesterday with the argument of Mr. Albert S. Willis for the Commonwealth. Mrs. Frentice was held in the sum of $5,000 to appear before the Circuit Court, which meets next Bonday, to answer for the murder of the child. In default of ball she was again remanded to her cell. The argument of Mr. Willis was an able. temperate, and chanustry resume of the evidence pointing to Mrs. Frentice as the willful nurderess of the child begotten in shame, and closing its short span of life under the influence of survation and maitrentment. Whether Mrs. Pegutice be guilty of its murder or not, her evident desire to bury it privately and secrectly, her perversion of the truth as to lit development, and her Close of the Baby-Farming Case to bury it privately and secrectly, her perren-sion of the trath as to its development, and her absurd stories to the youthful mother, at least present a fearful array of suspicious circum-sances against her. There exists rebutting cyldence in her favor which may finally result in her acquistan—humanity prays that it may, but, if she be guilty, outraged Justice demands her purlshment.

"To Mesers. King, Gillotte, Langford, Lacerenes and other Gentlemen. Evarts. He is alive and as have very low in fissh. It seems difficult to resize the fact that he lived, but nevertheless it is so. We sont a messenger to this post for a surgeon, and afterwards I started with a fresh horse to meet him, but did not do so, and came on here. The messenger had left about an hour before I arrived with an ambulance by the wagon road, and I missed him. I return to-morrow.

"I understand that the messenger who came here in advacce of me sent, or went, to Helena to apprise the friends of Mr. Evarts of his actety, and may exare-rive his condition, but I think you need not give yourselves the least uncashese, as he has all the attention possible under the circumstances, and when the surgeon gets there he will be all right. On the myon got there he will be all right, on the myon got the power of the light in the first. We found him on the 10th inst. On the myon got the contract of the light inst. On the fort. He says he substated all this time on one snow-bird, two small minnows and the wing of a bird which he found and mashed between two stones, and made some broth in a yeast-powder can. This is all, with the exception of thicite roots—of which he had a fair supply—he has subsisted on.
"He tost his mare, saddle, gun and cana yeast-powder can. This is all, with the exception of thictic roots—of which he had a fair anuptly—he has subsisted on.

"He lost his mare, saddle, gun and cantenas the first day out, and was left without fishing tackle or mastches; but after making his bed over warm holes for several nights he thought be might produce fire from his opear glass, and did so. He lost both his knives. During his wanderings be raw no human being, neither whites sor Indians, until we found him.

"GEO. A. PRICHETT.

"Also, for JACK BURNETE."

"The bollowing is an extract from Mr. Langborne's letter.

"Mr. Everts has been found in an almost familiang condition near the mouth of Bear Guich. He will be brought here in a few days. He was found lying near the trail, and almost unable to move. The ambulance has been sent for him. This is reliable news, but he may not live. All possible care is being taken of him. 5. W. Langelonne."

the ballot-boxes are in charge principally of Republican officials, no fears are entertained
